WHY THE CHOR WILL NOT GO TO CHICAGO

Manager Charles J. Ross Returns With Explanations From Promoters of Project.

Manager Chas. J. Ross of the Ogden Tabernacle Choir returned Tuesday from Chicago where he has been in consultation with the management of the Chicago Tribune relative to the proposed trip of the Ogden choir to Chicago to sing at the United States Land and Irrigation exposition. Mr. Ross' trip to Chicago was made after earnest solicitation on the part of the Chicago Tribune for Ogden's famous choir to entertain the exposition. Transportation was sent him that he might consult with the Tribune management in the city.

The Chicago Tribune had proffered to finance the trip of the choir to Chicago, and had concluded that to expend an additional $16,000 to take the Ogden choir to Chicago, would be a waste of money. Mr. Ross, manager of the choir, had practically approved the plan and had authorized Mr. Ross, his assistant, to send the necessary telegrams to Ogden which were received by the choir through Mr. Fred Kiesel, while he made a few days' trip to New York on business. Upon his return to Chicago, Mr. Parker met with the directors of the Tribune and all expenses authorized by the Tribune had already exceeded the sum of $150,000, and the directors felt that as they had gone far in excess of their anticipated amount, they would be compelled to do without what they termed "the biggest attraction of the land and irrigation exposition."

Mr. Ross was shown every courtesy by all concerned and an anxious eye was prominent man of Chicago to have the choir make the trip that he proffered to raise $50,000 toward the expenses. Mr. Parker of the Tribune was the most disappointed man of all concerned. He said, "Mr. Ross, I can't tell you how very disappointed I am that our plans have not matured, for I had set my heart on having that famous choir of yours here during the exposition. It would have been a mighty big attraction, but I will say this, if the United States Land and Irrigation exposition proves a success, and I am very sure it will, it will be perpetuated and I shall see that your choir is brought here next year, and you may depend upon it every country will be extended its members; no money will be spared to give them every need of comfort."

The choir has already prepared the fare and through the earnest solicitation of many people, may be induced to present it here in the tabernacle in the near future.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED.

OGDEN, Nov. 10.—A suit for $7,500 was filed Tuesday in the district court by A. L. Wilson, administrator of the estate of Robert C. Wilson against the Oregon Lumber company. The complaint alleges that the deceased while employed as a fireman on one of the trains belonging to defendant, met with an accident near Deer, Oregon, which resulted in his death. It further alleges that the company was negligent in not providing proper equipment for the safety of its employees.

POLICE COURT CASES.

OGDEN, Nov. 10.—Charles Wilson and Jack Johnson were arraigned in police court Tuesday on the charge of snatching opium, thus violating the law. Both men have been repeatedly warned by Detective Pender and other officers against this pernicious habit, but they did not heed the warning and were arrested Monday night in an opium dive. They entered a long plea for mercy from the court and one of them said he had an aged mother to support and that he should be home. The judge was inclined to be lenient, but gave them a good talk regarding their evil habit and told them the next time they were brought before him on this charge, he would give them the limit. He allowed them to go on a suspended sentence of 30 days each.

John Hogan was arraigned on the charge of resisting an officer. The evidence showed that Hogan was very drunk and had reached the point where he was determined to whip everybody in sight. He caused considerable stir by his wild pranks until the arrival of Officer Russell. After a hard struggle, he was finally landed in the patrol and taken to the station. The court sentenced him to 30 days in jail or a fine of $20.

SCHOOL COURT A SUCCESS.

OGDEN, Nov. 10.—The boys' court at the state industrial school is considered by the officials of that institution a great success. By placing the machinery of the "court" in the hands of the youths at the school, the authorities believe that they will solve some of the hardest problems which arise at the school. The inmates of the school have manifested much interest in the sessions of the court. What the inmates of the institution commit any infraction of the rules they are brought before the court and punishment is meted out to the offending ones in the same manner as is done in cases tried in the city and state courts.

A Merwick, an inmate of the school who ran away and purchased a quantity of tobacco at Five Points, was the latest offender. The "judge," Lawrence Martin, found him guilty and imposed a sentence of 30 days in the rest room, with two out of three meals some of the time to consist of bread and water, and ordered the lad's hair shaved close to the scalp. When Merwick completes his sentence he must appear before the officials and pupils and make a public apology.

ROBBERS BAFFLED BY DOG.

OGDEN, Nov. 10.—Baffled in their attempt to enter the store of L. H. Beckett on Twenty-fourth street and Grant avenue by the barking of a large watch dog, robbers hurled bricks and rocks at the large display windows, completely demolishing them. The outrage occurred at an early hour Tuesday morning, and the proprietor arrived he found the rocks and bricks on the store floor. Nothing in the windows had been touched, and it is thought that the missiles were thrown from a distance. This is the second attempt which has been made to rob this store within three months and the fourth time within two years.

PROHIBITION FOR UTAH COUNTY

All Incorporated Cities Are Going "Dry." County May Follow Suit in Some Form.

(Special Correspondence.)
PROVO, Nov. 10.—The question of prohibition in the county will now come before the county commissioners in an acute form. All the incorporated cities in the county have gone "dry" and there will no doubt be attempts made to secure licenses for points outside the city limits of these dry cities, when the prohibition ordinances go into effect the first of the year. The county commissioners are desirous of carrying out the will of the majority of the people, which in most places is in favor of prohibition; but the ruling in the Morgan county case in which Judge Howell held that, under the law, the fact that a majority of the people are opposed to the granting of a license is not a sufficient cause for the county commissioners to refuse it, makes it doubtful about the commissioners having the power to withhold a license. This case has not yet been decided by the supreme court and until it is there is uncertainty as to the power of the county commissioners in the premises. The law will of course be amended at the next legislature provided a prohibition legislature can be elected (which is another story), but the immediate question is what shall be done between now and then, provided the supreme court sustains Judge Howell? In some parts of the county, at Colton for instance, it is not believed that any large proportion of the citizens are in favor of prohibition, and in such places there will be dissatisfaction if the board refuses licenses.

The matter is being thoroughly considered and the action considered best will be taken, and even if licenses are granted it is most probable that the license fee will be greatly increased, which will act as a deterrent to the saloon evil, if not its entire elimination. The saloon license now is $600 a year.

END OF A ROMANCE.

PROVO, Nov. 10.—The divorce suit of G. W. Carlson vs. Elissa Carlson was heard before Judge Booth in the Fourth district court yesterday. Arguments will be submitted by briefs. Plaintiff lives at Salem, this county, and defendant in Salt Lake City. He is 72 years of age and she is 59. The romance which is now in the divorce court began in a business-like way by an advertisement inserted in a Swedish paper published in Salt Lake, about two years ago.

Mrs. Carlson, then Mrs. Elissa Sholdebrand, living in Salt Lake, answered the advertisement and as a result Mr. Carlson visited Salt Lake, and the two were married there Oct. 9, 1907. Since then they have not lived together much of the time. Carlson has sold his property in Salt Lake and is now living in Salem and Mrs. Carlson is living in Salt Lake. He claims she will not live with him, and she claims he has not asked her to do so.

In the case of Leuelon L. Nunn vs. Mosher F. Pack et al. and Caleb Tanner, state engineer, Judge Booth has sustained the demurrer on the ground that there is a misjoinder of action, that defendant Tanner is not responsible for the acts of Pack.
